“ I met Tilden back in the 80's and we had some lovely times together. He was so smart and funny, and always a gentleman. Being so handsome and well mannered I was smitten with his charming ways. Then when he played the guitar and sang he could be a heart stealer.

With distance and life twists and turns we went our separate paths and lost touch. Today for some unknown reason I woke up and his name and memory was kept popping into my head , so I googled his name and so sadly found his obituary. He truly was a wonderful human being and although it's been years he some how came through to me to acknowledge his passing.

My deepest sympathy to his loved family. I will keep Tilden in my prayers.
