“ Dear George and the entire Wright family,

My deepest condolences in Cathy's passing. It's been said that some people come into your life and quickly go, but others stay for a while, leave footprints on your heart and you are never ever the same. Cathy left a footprint on my heart and will be sadly missed. She embodied what it means to be a true friend -- never failing to call, send an email remember a birthday with a card and just touching base to show she cared. She deeply loved her entire family and told me how blessed she was to be a mother, grandmother and now a great-grandmother. She had a striving for excellence and didn't think that was too much to ask. Her perseverance through struggles was amazing as she tried her hardest to champion through various difficulties with a positive forward thinking attitude. She was a real gem. She found it within herself to be a motivator and encourager of others ("oh, you can do it, I know you can"), and to do it with a laugh and a smile. She wasn't afraid to share her values and religious convictions with others. We became neighbors almost 15 years ago and she was quick to open her home to me, include me in different things, invite me up to chat, over for dinner, or just popping in to my place to say hi. She made my "world" more enjoyable. Her pot roast was the best: "Remember Shelley, low and slow. Don't rush it." Going for lunch now and again would turn into a whole afternoon as she was such good company and always fun to talk with. Then she'd say "George is going to start wondering what happened to me." It's comforting that we can say confidently we know her Savior welcomed her home on Easter Sunday and said "well done, good and faithful servant. Enter into the joy of the Lord." I'll see you again good friend.

“ Dear Wright family,

My deepest sympathies and heart-felt condolences for your loss.

Mrs. Wright was one of the finest people I've known and was a significant influence on me during my formative years. She always opened her home to us neighborhood children, always made the time to spend with us, and taught us many life-enduring lessons. I was beyond fortunate and truly blessed to have known her and can easily consider her as a "second" mom.

I will remember her with fondness and will terribly miss her smile and laughter.

A memory that comes to mind was the last time that I saw her (after not seeing her in about 20 years)...she said to me "John Kovel, you haven't changed a bit".

She always had a way to make you smile in a way like no one else.

*Respectfully and with loving memories,
John Kovel*
