“ I want to offer my condolences to the Bartoszek family on the passing of their husband, father, grandfather and great grandfather. Mr. Bartoszek hired me in 1974 at American Sterilizer Co. and was my boss for 17 years. I had a great job and was able to provide for my family thanks to Mr. Bartoszek. He was a good boss who cared deeply for the company but more for his family. Tom Kemp

“Ronnie, We are so sorry for your loss. I thought I'd share some stuff about you and Ed for the community.

We lived across the street from Ed and Ronnie on Pacific Ave for 10 years. We didn't have kids when we first moved in. As it was our first home, we benefited by having neighbors who imparted wisdom with a wink and a smile, which they did often (thankfully). We have so many memories. For example, our son's first boat ride was when Ed and Ronnie had us out to their lake cottage, which was where they had a pontoon boat. When they started to winter in FL, we were given a key to check on things, and by things, I mean wine. This is because Ed was a wine maker, and he wanted me to periodically check on how his varieties were doing while they were away. They baby sat for us. They helped us learn how to grow a vegetable garden. I remember how proud Ed was of the fence on his property that was made from wine barrels. But one of the memories I smiled about when writing this was reflecting upon when they decided to sell their house on Pacific Ave. Ed decided to list for sale by owner. He got a bite right away. The person made a deposit, and Ed took the "for sale" sign down. A week later, the couple came back, as they had changed their mind. Ed gave the deposit check back and put the sign out in the yard the next day. Ed told me all about it. Then the couple came back, as they had changed their mind and again wanted to buy the house. Ed said, "Ok, but I'm keeping the deposit if you change your mind again." Well, I was outside when the couple came back to once again change their mind. Ed answered the door, opened the screen door, walked past the person while the person was still talking, down the steps and over to the garage. He came out with the "for sale" by owner sign, walked to the front yard in a very determined fashion, and slammed the spikes of the sign down into the yard as if spiking a football. Not long after we talked about it, and I remember him saying, "Fool me once, shame on you. Fool me twice, shame on me." That lesson always stuck with me. We were so blessed to have gotten to know both Ed and Ronnie during our time on Pacific Ave., and we miss getting advice with a wink and a knowing smile.

*Love,
Rob and Beverly Wright*
