

John Richard Lametto

July 14, 1968 - August 23, 2025

John Richard Lametto, 57, of Estero, Florida, passed away peacefully on August 23, 2025. Born in Norwalk, Connecticut, John grew up in Redding and carried the values of his close-knit upbringing throughout his life—quiet strength, unwavering loyalty, and deep devotion to those he loved.

After attending the University of Alabama, John became a lifelong fan of Crimson Tide football—his enthusiasm for the team was infectious and enduring. (Roll Tide!)

John dedicated his entire professional career to PVH, where he was known for his hard work, integrity, dependability, earning the respect and friendship of colleagues across decades.

Later in life, John fulfilled a longtime dream by settling on Florida's southwest coast, where the tranquil beauty of the shoreline brought him lasting peace and joy. After years of tireless dedication, he finally realized some of his greatest aspirations. He purchased a beautiful home for himself and his mother—a welcoming space with room for family to gather and create new memories. Embracing this new chapter, John discovered a passion for decorating and explored fresh hobbies with enthusiasm. Surrounded by coastal charm and the people he loved, he was truly living his best life.

He is survived by his loving mother, Patricia Lametto; his sister, Barbara Wade (Robert); and his brothers, Scott Lametto (Kelley) and Brian Lametto (Christina). John was a cherished uncle to Jessica Salvo (Stephen), Megan Wade, Rachel Wade, Nicholas Lametto, Marisa Lametto, Parker Lametto, and Aly Lametto, and a proud great-uncle to Nora Salvo. He was predeceased by his father, Richard Lametto, whose memory remained a guiding presence in John's life.

John will be remembered for his steady presence, his quiet humor, and the gentle way he showed up for others. He never sought the spotlight, but his impact was lasting and profound. His legacy lives on in the kindness he offered, the loyalty he gave, and the love he held for his family. The family will never be the same without him but we will move forward, embracing his legacy of love, generosity and laughter.

A private service will be held to honor John's life. In lieu of flowers, the family kindly requests donations be made in his memory to a local animal shelter.

“ Reading these reflections on John, all I can say is I echo all of them which just shows how consistently John treated everyone at PVH in his kind and gentle way. He was our "go-to" because of his vast knowledge, expertise and above all willingness to listen and help. To his family, please know that we saw and appreciated the special person he was. He was widely respected and friend to many and we will continue to feel his loss.

“ I had the privilege of working with John for many years, and it is truly hard to put into words what a loss this is. He was someone who always seemed to have the answers, no matter how complex the situation. Beyond his deep knowledge, what stood out most was how generously he shared it, always willing to help, guide, and support anyone who reached out to him. His patience, kindness, and dedication made such a difference to all of us.

It's a huge loss. He will be deeply missed, but we will always remember him with respect, gratitude, and fondness.

May his soul rest in peace, and may we carry forward his spirit of generosity and kindness in our work and lives.

“ I’ve had the pleasure of working closely with John over the last 10 years, and having him on my team the last several years. As two ‘old timers’ at the company, we looked forward to our weekly touch bases and often talked about weekend plans and family. It always made me smile to hear him talk about his close family. Just last week, I was remarking to him what a great impact he was making as a valued expert and respected advisor to our team and the teams we work with. His knowledge was broad and deep thanks to his many years at PVH and his dedication. John was a teacher at heart and was generous with his time to one and all. He was incredibly kind, sincere and unassuming. As his manager, it was one of the hardest things I’ve ever done to tell the many, many people that worked with him over the years that he had passed. I received dozens and dozens of incredibly touching messages in response as we collectively absorbed the shock of losing such a dear colleague and friend. It’s a heartwarming testament to John’s legacy.

One of my favorite memories of John was on a trip to NY last year. After a long day of meetings, a few of us wanted to go out for a drink. John suggested a new restaurant next to his hotel that he had discovered. The place had only opened the week before and was mostly empty when we walked in. But somehow, everyone in there knew John by name already. Even the kitchen staff came out to say hello and brought him ‘his usual’. We still laugh that John was the new Norm from Cheers right here in the cold heart of NYC. That’s John in a nutshell.. easy to know and easy to love. I will miss him greatly.

“ From the moment I met John while interviewing for PVH, it was obvious that he was kindhearted and patient. He worked hard but was also always available for a conversation or to offer help. John will be greatly missed but many good memories will remain. Rest in peace.

“ I am still shocked and not sure what words to put into this moment. I had the privilege of working with John for over 10 years at PVH, and during that time he was not only a colleague but truly a dear friend. We shared so many memories together, working side by side late into the nights and on weekends during COVID to finish countless reports, team building activities, and supporting each other through challenges at work. He was always there to listen with patience and care. He never pushed or judged, and his steady presence helped me more than I can ever express in words. No matter the situation, he was kind, ready to help, and willing to take on more.

I learned so much from him, not only about work but also about life. He showed me patience, generosity, and the quiet strength of treating people with respect. I feel deeply fortunate to have spent so many years learning from him.

I will remember John for a very very long time, not only as a wonderful colleague but as a friend who made a lasting difference in my life. His memory will continue to live on in me and in so many others who were blessed to know him.

“ I’m deeply saddened to see John go. From the very first day I met him during my interview until just last week, he has always been a remarkable person to work with. John carried himself with humility and kindness, always respecting others and valuing every suggestion, no matter how big or small. His ability to listen, encourage, and guide made him not only an inspiring leader but also one of the nicest human beings I’ve ever had the privilege to know.

I can proudly say I was fortunate to have a boss like John — a leader who was approachable, supportive, and genuinely cared about people. Beyond work, he was someone you could always count on for a smile, a word of encouragement, or simply a thoughtful conversation.

John, you will be deeply missed, but your positive spirit and the impact you’ve made will remain with us always. May your beautiful soul rest in peace.

“ John was a loved and respected colleague! Learned a lot about relationships and how one can be connected to so many kinds of people starting from CEOs to the security personnel in the office, in the same way. May his soul rest in peace! Om Shanti!

“ I am incredibly sad to learn of this news of John. I have worked with John for many years. John was one of the most likeable colleagues and a pleasure to be around. Kind and genuine come to mind when I think of him. Sharing a good laugh or just a normal pleasantry. He never seemed annoyed and happy to run into one another in the office. My prayers are for you all as the hole in your heart seems huge now, in time it will be filled with loving thoughts and memories of John to help you through. My sincerest condolences to the Lametto family. May God bless John.

Sincerely,

“ John was one of the first colleagues I met when I started at PVH, and has taught me so much in the last 9 years. He was always ready to help, listen and find ways to collaborate. Where others may have held information to their chest, John said "I'm here to share". Though we never worked on the same team at PVH, John's gift with data and reporting helped my team immensely. When a member of his team expressed an interested in a role on my team, John jokingly said "you're taking my best guy!" but was immediately supportive, always wanting the best for his team. I will remember John, and miss him dearly.
