Lorraine Novak Hoegen, aged 90, passed away on October 26, 2024, in Fort Myers, Florida. Born on June 2, 1934, in Lawrence, Massachusetts, she was the cherished daughter of the late Alexander Novak and Lena (Kobrenski) (Novak) Ward. Family was the cornerstone of Lorraine's life. She was a devoted wife to her husband of 73 years and loving mother. Her love for her family was paramount. One of her greatest joys in life was becoming GG to her 8 great grandchildren. She enjoyed family dinners, holiday gatherings, and especially the family vacations to Aruba, which remained her favorite activity.

She is survived by her husband, William J. Hoegen; her daughter, Linda Wallace and husband, Thomas. She was predeceased by her beloved son, William J. Hoegen Jr., and is survived by her daughter-in-law, Ethel Hoegen. Her legacy continues through her grandchildren—Thomas Wallace Jr., Melissa Egan and her husband Justin, Justin Wallace and his wife Jackie, Matthew Hoegen and his wife Kaitlyn—and her great-grandchildren- Lilyana and Ariella Egan, Teagan, Cameron and Logan Wallace and William, Shaelyn and Austen Hoegen.

Lorraine was also a sister to the late Theresa Watson and is remembered by many nieces and nephews who held her dear.
